

Gallery - Favorites

Here is a collection of some of my all around favorite woodworking projects. Shown here is a display case for a friend's helmet (given as a going away present).

For 27 years, my sweet long-suffering wife complained about the "ugly" metal intake registers for our fireplace heater. I finally fashioned 2 registers made from ash to match the rest of the cabinets in the living room. They were fun to build and have become one of my favorite small projects.